Santa Fe, NM – To maintain open and productive communication with the public on this major public infrastructure project, the City of Santa Fe is hosting a public meeting to answer questions and present the plans for the Acequia Trail Underpass project.

This underpass is a major next strep in improving Santa Fe's bikeability. It will connect the Acequia trail adjacent to the New Mexico School for the Deaf to the Railyard Park just north of Cerrillos road, keeping cyclists out of the Cerillos/St. Francis intersection and making a huge leap forward in the ease, safety and connectivity of bicycling in the City Different.

This is a preconstruction public information meeting for the $3.82 million project, which is funded for construction with 85.44% federal funds and a 14.56% city match. The project is slated to bid for construction in fall 2015, and construction is anticipated to last 6 – 8 months.

In conformance with the Americans with Disabilities act (ADA) all requests for special accommodations should be directed to Denise Weston at least 48 hours in advance . A sign language interpreter may be made available upon request.
